

E|Spaces adds suites in Belle Meade

Concept caters to large organizations

E|Spaces is adding to its lineup in Belle Meade with a handful of office suites designed to let corporations and institutions provide alternative work environments.

The E|Spaces team says its suites — the company has expanded into five space in its Harding Pike home and they measure between 500 and 700 square feet — will give large organizations temporary room to devote to special projects. Already, HCA and Nissan have signed on.

“The latest trends in workplace design demonstrate that collaborative and flexible spaces away from the daily grind lead employees to more productive and innovative outcomes,” said E|Spaces CEO Jon Pirtle. “As companies from around the globe continue to relocate to Nashville, the new suites allow those businesses to have a presence in Nashville while they look for a permanent location.”

The suites are secure, fully furnished and include a private meeting room within the space. Suite memberships also come with benefits of a regular E|Spaces membership.
